FOREWORD

The Central Food Technological Research Institute during the last forty years has done work on different areas covering wide range of subject matters in food science and technology. These have been well documented in the project compilation reports. An offshoot of this is the papers published in different periodicals. It cannot be said that papers have been published under all projects, but a substantial portion of the research projects have published papers.

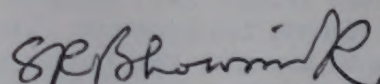

Earlier attempts have been made to bring out similar publications. In 1966 'Abstracts of papers of CFTRI' was published in 15 sections with index. Afterwards no attempt has been made to bring a supplement. Now, the information on publication of papers by different disciplines have been collected and computerised so that it is possible to retrieve any relevant papers published from the Institute.

Requests are being received from outside for the list of research papers published from CFTRI on different subject areas. This compilation will be of great use to meet such requests and also will help to know the overall contribution of CFTRI over the last four decades. These papers have been covered to some extent in the 'R and D at the CFTRI, the first three decades, 1951-1980', published by CFTRI.

There are 4,600 research papers listed in this publication. Bibliographic information covering author(s), title of the paper, journal name, volume, issue number, year and page numbers have been provided for each reference. It is hoped that this publication will help to know what research work has already been done in specific subject areas of food science and technology and to understand where gaps exist in our present knowledge. This will also help to avoid duplication of research efforts by others.

Thanks are due to S/Shri V. Krishnaswamy Rao and B. Vasu (collection and compilation), P. Manilal and Ms. C. S. Anita (computerisation) and K. A. Ranganath under whose guidance the work has been done.
